Ushbu maqolada Til o'rganishda tilning ko'p jihatlari sekin rivojlanadi. Tilni o'qitishda jiddiy muammolardan biri bu tilning qaysi usul va texnikasi bilan bog'liqligi. Yana bir muammo shundaki, maktabda chet tillari kam soatlarda o'qitiladi. Gapirish, o'qish, yozish, tinglash va tushunish va so'z boyligini oshirish va ularni to'g'ri qo'llash uchun 6-7 yil davomida darslarni samarali o'tkazish uchun mo'ljallangan o'quv dasturlari va fanlari bo'lishi kerak. Bundan kelib chiqadiki, bir hafta ichida chet tillari etarli emas.

Аннотация

При изучении языка многие аспекты языка развиваются медленно. В преподавании языка одна из серьезных проблем заключается в том, с какими методами и техниками связан язык. Другая проблема заключается в том, что в школе на изучение иностранных языков отводится мало времени. Чтобы говорить, читать, писать, слушать и понимать, а также увеличивать словарный запас и правильно применять все это, необходимо эффективно проводить занятия в течение 6-7 лет, должны быть предусмотрены образовательные программы и предметы. Исходя из этого, мы думаем, что недостаточно иностранных языков, которые изучаются за неделю.

Abstract

In language learning, many aspects of language develop slowly. In Language Teaching one of the serious problems is with which methods and techniques the language is carried out related. Another problem is that in school's foreign languages are in low hours teaching. To speak, read, write, listen and understand and increase vocabulary and to apply these correctly, it is necessary to effectively conduct classes for 6-7 years there must be educational programs and subjects that are intended. From this we think, there are not enough foreign languages that take place in a week.

INTRODUCTION

In addition to learning foreign languages for innovative technology also plays an important role. Every innovation technology has its own advantages. In all such techniques, the reader and the relationship between the teacher, the actions of students in the process of repair it is envisaged. Learning foreign languages is just learning a language or not only mental not a means of upbringing, but a culture other than education with its riches and values is the dating process. Current era educational development innovation gave rise to pedagogy. Innovative - English meanings of "innovating" means. The socio-psychological aspect of innovating is the American Researcher Developed by Rodgers. Language Teaching is a more civilized educator, aimed at the formation of the frame as well as personality. Developing today foreign language skills in countries, including Uzbekistan, education becoming one of the integral parts. Currently, the study of a foreign language the importance is growing in our country more than before. A number of our young people and English professionals live new ways and techniques of learning English promoting. This is definitely the effectiveness of teaching foreign languages causes the increase. Language learning also depends on age periods. Children to adults they are much faster and easier to master than they are. One of the many young people in Uzbekistan the question is tormenting. He is the author of the book "How to quickly learn a foreign language? "The main problem the reason lies in the wrong approach. Knowing the easiest way to learn a foreign language must. Some of our schools still have that old methodology that is only Summer, Black me. Times are changing, progress is changing, developments beginning. So we also need to use modern methods. For example, various fun games for children to learn a foreign language firmly organization. There are currently a lot of foreign language learning games. For example, “.

The first study of foreign languages the stages are also influenced by the characteristics of the learners ' Native languages.

MATERIALS AND METHODS

Cheerful riddles " (Merry Riddles) teaching riddles to students English important in teaching their language are words that are unfamiliar to them learn.

The most important thing is that we have a strong desire and desire to learn languages must be. From the fact that you were able to gain self-confidence in language learning then you will have gone on to learn the language. English, considered one of the foreign languages considered an internationally recognized language of communication, more than 400 million in 53 countries speaks English. In addition, English is also a business language, because many businesses abroad are conducted in English. Another of the English one of the popular sides is the best films, books and music in foreign countries in English. You will have many opportunities if you learn English.[1]

The educational content is selected thematically and linguistically depending on the child's interest and development in the psychology of learning. The content of education should correspond to the interests of the child and expand it, appeal to his feelings, cultivate active participation, fantasy and creativity and give him pleasure.

The content of education in the process of learning foreign languages at an early age complements the child's worldview, which is being formed or formed in his native language, and distinguishes it. It is oriented towards semantic and pragmatic progression and deviates considerably from grammatical progression. The content of education should be conveyed as much as possible with the help of educational materials in the original language. In this case, simple types of text such as rhyme, song, wise words, fairy tales and stories are recommended, for example. Texts that are not in the original language written for use in the lesson should take into account the origin of the original language itself and the types of original text in it, as well as the forms of dialogue and conversation of communication.

To develop competencies in language knowledge in the field of language skills such as hearing, speaking, reading and writing, and the ability of children to communicate in everyday life, students will need vocabulary and linguistic structures suitable for the child's living environment. The educational plans should show not only the selected topics, but also the structures expressed in picture books and textbooks, which should be studied in the context of the topics.

Learning pronunciation should be an integral part of teaching foreign languages. Audio and audiovisual technical means, in which the voices of foreign language owners are recorded, are of great help in this. Paralinguistic means such as gesture and facial expressions and are inextricably linked with the social and cultural dimensions of the use of words in the language under study (greeting phrases, forms of Appeal, forms of expression of respect other linguistic tools are considered a substantively important part of teaching foreign languages at an early age.

Before learning foreign languages or by getting into it determine your goal. The fact that language learning never hurts, it is always necessary-it is, but this is a common answer. It is important to remember that clarifying the goal contributes to achieving success quickly and according to the plan in the future. That is, Do you want to go to study abroad by studying English, French or Korean, or do you plan to work in an international company? Maybe you want to live in another state later? This will help those who are hesitant, not knowing which language to learn, find the answer to the question of what to do. The fact is that it will be necessary everywhere, you may be thinking that it is necessary to learn English. But if you want to go to Germany for example and study or live, there is focus on learning German that can be more useful in terms of time and opportunities.[2]

If your goal and decision on which language to learn is the appointment, you can now master and choose which method to prepare based on your interest.

Starting learning from grammar

RESULTS AND DISCUSSIONS

Reading, translation and recording — there must be no person who does not know this traditional method, which is well known from the school era among us. This method mainly focuses on the study of the rule regarding the language under study, as well as phonetics. This method, which is the same for those who want to learn classically, may not suit those who want more practical learning. And for those who want their written translation to be perfect, or whose future activities are related to the theory of language, it is the same provision. The good thing is that the base of the students learned in this way will be solid. This gives rise to the construction of a grammatically correct sentence.

But it is necessary to take into account that, mainly due to the use of writing, access to communication, some difficulties in free expression of thought can be observed. That is, in this case, you can freely state the comments on a particular topic on paper, but you may not be very bold in face-to-face conversations or arguments. Nevertheless, this does not mean that this method is unnecessary. It is possible to easily achieve a positive result if, even independently, the master of hearing and speaking is more productive and generalized.

Uzbekistan also ranks at the top of the world in terms of learning English trying. In particular, 100 countries in our country's English language proficiency rating it is ranked 95th in. Only Singapore is strong in this rating it was the only nation in the top ten and ranked fifth. In the present tense knowing at least one foreign language is extremely necessary and of great importance, and learning it methods are different. One of them is - watching movies and multiplicative movies is. Many experienced and qualified English in our country today our teachers are the experience of educators from the United States, England and using innovative techniques, relying on their methods. This among the qualified teachers, those who studied at are also found. Language the role of modern technologies in learning and teaching is incomparable. Innovation each paragraph of learning a foreign language from technological means (reading, writing, listening understand and speak). In particular, in the study of a foreign language, such there are several advantages to using technology. For example, four skills in a student who is taught a foreign language based on multimedia development, opportunity to learn both by seeing and hearing through interesting materials appeared. Reader guesses the meaning of some words when seeing live action can and tries to understand it. Technology also slowly taking the place of traditional teaching.[3]

CONCLUSION

In a time when technology is developing, we are interested in foreign language learners the role of innovative technologies in enriching their knowledge is incomparable we can say. In conclusion, innovative and modern in foreign language lessons as a result of the use of technologies and methods, reader's logic thinking and thinking skills develop, speech becomes fluent and quickly and correctly the qualification of response is formed. Vat education system in the developing country

The Thinker would make it a task to educate competent, mature individuals. Each a foreign language lesson is a crossroads of Culture, a practice of communication.
